Acknowledgments

Throughout the planning for this exhibition and catalogue we have been fortunate to work with many individuals who have generously contributed their time, knowledge, and skill. Of course, the artist himself, The Sondon Art Gallery's Brian Wood for everything he did to make this exhibition a success.

To our guest editor Christian Hawkey, the author of a collection of poetry, The Book of Funeral and Mourning, and recipient of a 2008 Creative Capital Ingenuity Award in Literature, we extend our thanks. His Fellowship we also extend our thanks. His contribution to this catalogue is particularly welcome.

We are especially grateful to the individuals who graciously loaned important works from their own collections. The richness and depth of this exhibition would not have been possible without the generous support of these friends.

In addition, the Sondon Art Gallery would like to thank Mark M

University for organizing this exhibition, as well as for her many years of service to the University.

Finally, this exhibition is dedicated to John Hawkey, Morgan former of the Sondon Art Gallery, for his support and encouragement.

Artist's Acknowledgments

I would like to thank Shelly Pearce for initiating this exhibition and for the open spirit of our early conversations.

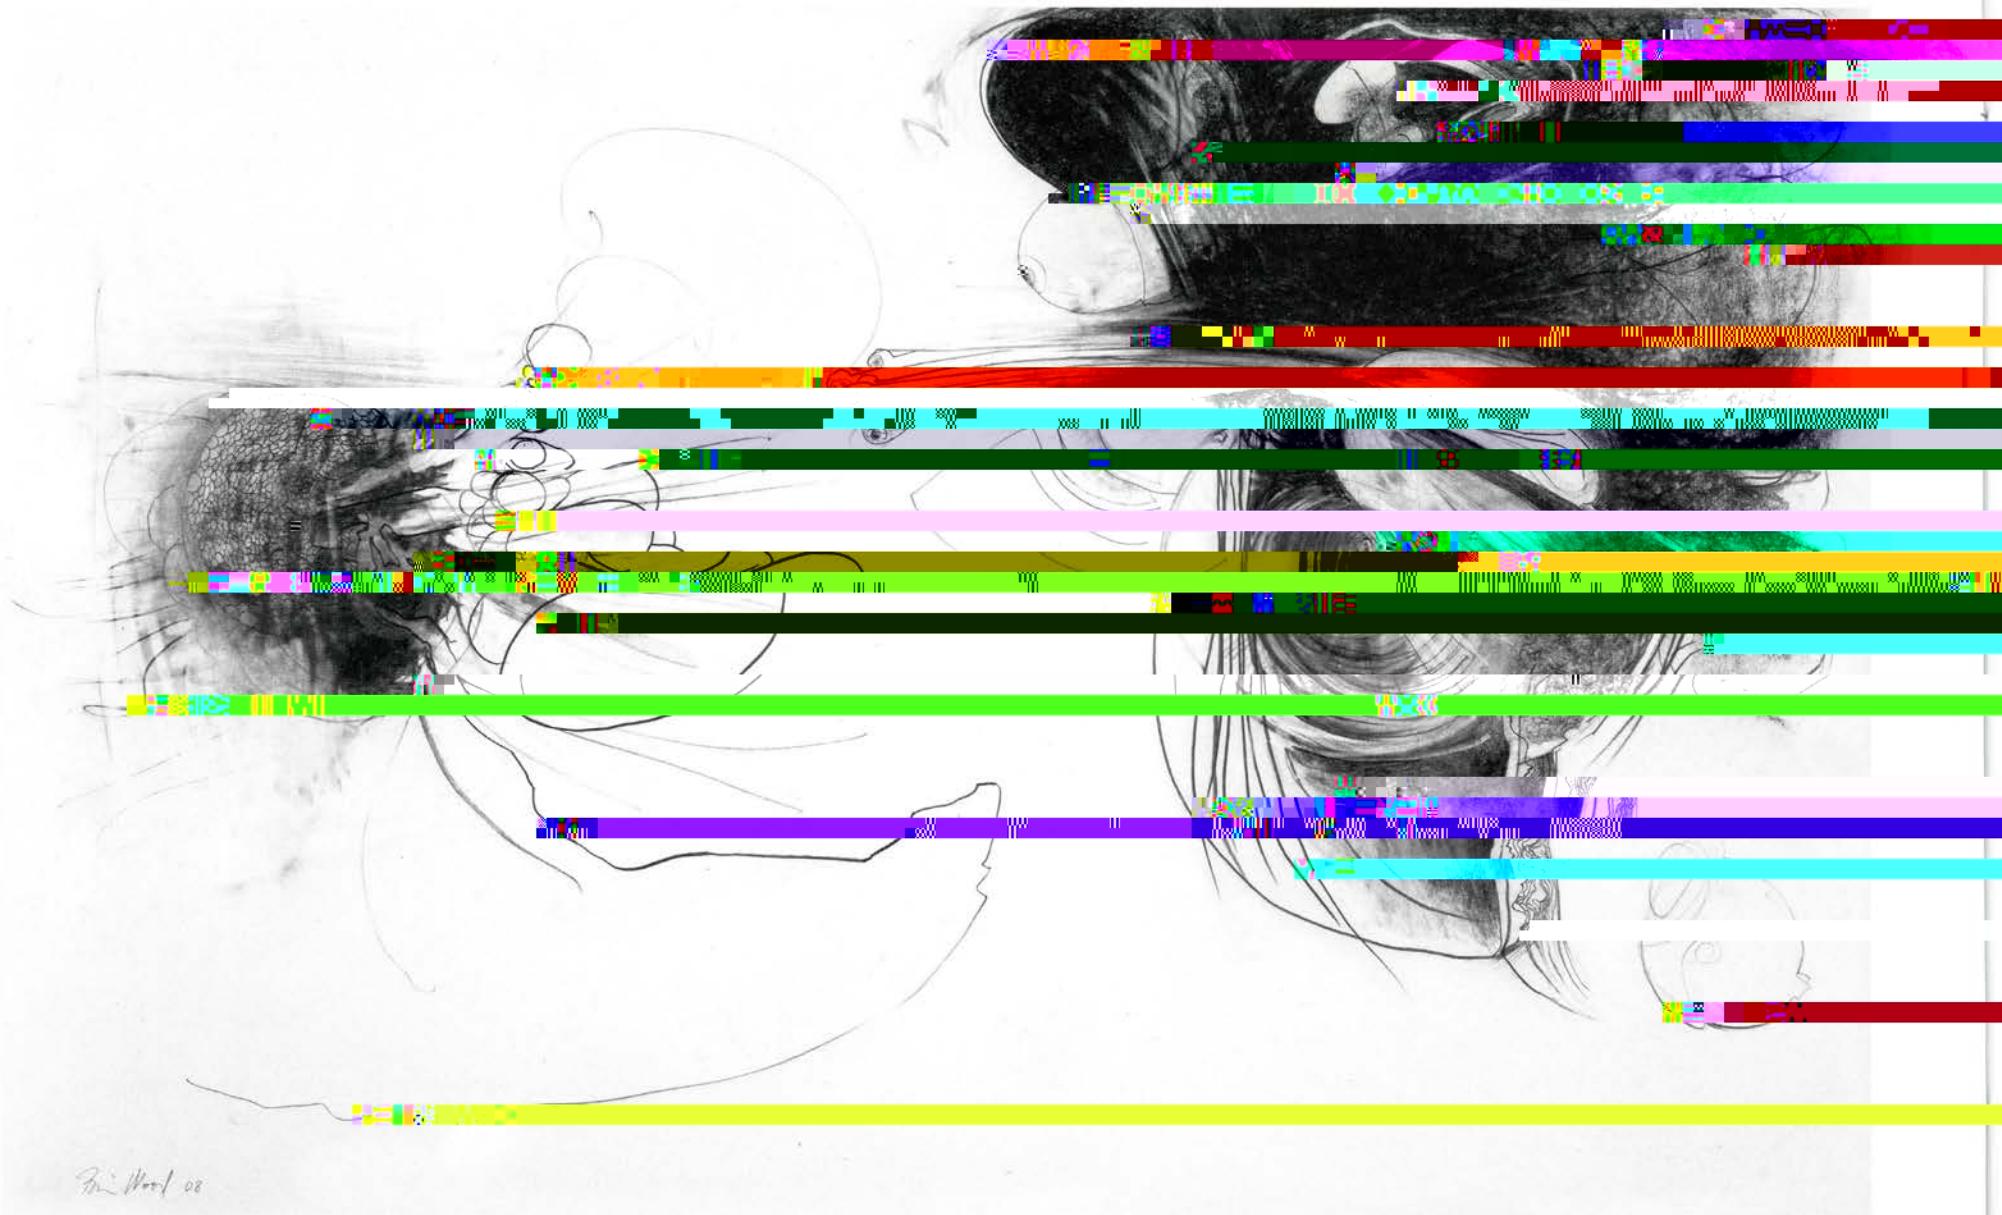

Many thanks to Brynn Krymer DeBello for her support and attention in organizing the exhibition and catalogue.

My special thanks to Betsy Süssler, founder and editor of Boiled Magazine, for her generosity and insight and for introducing me to the wonderful poet Christian Hawkey. I'm grateful to him for his attentive perception and sensitivity to my work. His essay in the form of a poem or an interior reading analytic poem (which can be read three ways: straight through, or the first two stanzas, or the second stanza only) both illuminate and perform my artwork.

To Ashley Gant for her love and patience, thank you. To all the support and visitors, I thank you. To all the people who made this exhibition that was my world, thank you.
